DUGGINS WREN MANN & ROMERO LAUNCHES AS AUSTIN'S NEWEST LAW FIRM 29-Attorney Regional and National Practice Calls Austin Home

AUSTIN, Texas –A powerful new law firm launched today in Austin with the goal of providing the outstanding service clients and the community have come to know and expect from its lawyers.

Duggins Wren Mann & Romero, LLP is the new, 29-attorney-strong firm that will open with a practice spanning from the local area to the national arena.

Major practice areas for the firm will be in Energy and Public Utilities, Environmental, Commercial Litigation and Commercial Law, Appellate, Administrative, Corporate and Securities, and State and Local Taxation.

“We have put together a successful, proven team of attorneys whose depth of experience in our practice areas is unsurpassed in Texas. These attorneys will continue to do what they have previously done and that is to represent the same interests and issues before Texas regulatory agencies, our courts and in administrative proceedings,” said David Gilliland, managing partner of Duggins Wren Mann & Romero.

Other practice areas include construction, entertainment, gaming, insurance law, mergers and acquisitions, and water utilities and water districts.

Senior Partners – Duggins Wren Mann & Romero, LLP

- David C. Duggins – In his more than 30 years of practice, Mr. Duggins has litigated dozens of administrative agency hearings and appeals in all areas of civil law. His practice areas are appellate and administrative law, with an emphasis on appeals of agency decisions. He also has extensive experience in Texas trial courts in commercial litigation.
- Casey Wren – Mr. Wren is an energy attorney with over 30 years of experience. He has represented most of the investor-owned electric and natural gas utilities doing business in Texas in major contested proceedings before the Texas Public Utility Commission and Railroad Commission in addition to representing energy companies in a wide variety of commercial, corporate and financial transactions.
- James Mann – Mr. Mann represents every major intrastate natural gas pipeline company in Texas and the bulk of his work involves representation before regulatory agencies of LNG facilities, gas companies and gas marketers. He has done this type of work for more than 30 years.

- Celina Romero – With expertise in environmental and climate change law, Ms. Romero has represented clients in a wide variety of matters before the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency for over 20 years. She also counsels clients on compliance with local, state, and federal environmental regulations and permitting requirements. Her clients include local and nationally based companies in the energy industry as well as water utilities and groundwater districts.

All 29 attorneys in the new firm previously worked at Clark, Thomas & Winters, PC, which was founded in 1938 and built a practice that covered virtually all types of law.
